Redistricting
Notes:
1) Redistricting adjusts commissioner district boundaries so that population is nearly the same in all districts. This map shows one possible alternative.
2) Using the 2020 Census, a population of 111,856 for each of the three commissioner districts was found to be the target population given the port district total of 335,569 and then divided by 3.
3) All commissioner district boundaries should follow either election precinct or portion boundaries. If a proposed boundary is complex (curvy) it is because the election precinct boundary it follows is also complex.
4) The map labels display the “Variance from Target” for the existing districts.

From WSJ Article “People Have Money but Feel Glum – What Does That Mean for the Economy?”

“China – which consumes about three times as much steel scrap as the EU and over four times as much as the US – is an area of particular concern.
